‘Restore Economic Mobility for Hoosier Families’ at the Indiana Statehouse

Indianapolis, IN — With support from the Indianapolis Foundation (a CICF affiliate) and the Working Poor Families Project, the Indiana Institute for Working Families will host ‘Restore Economic Mobility for Hoosier Families’ from 1PM – 4PM on Wednesday, January 29th in the South Atrium of the Indiana Statehouse.

The event will begin with brief remarks from the nonprofit community on the challenges to economic self-sufficiency and upward mobility for too many Hoosier families. Remarks include: the importance of catalyzing the philanthropic community to address systemic changes in the delivery of social services and work supports; results from research on the economic phenomenon known as the ‘Cliff Effect’ – illustrating that work alone isn’t always enough for economic self-sufficiency, and; from the frontlines, the perspective of a family development specialist who has witnessed first-hand the challenges faced by low-income Hoosier families.

Attendees will then have an opportunity to visit their respective legislative offices to share educational resources and personal stories, and ask their representative to sign on as ‘Champions of Economic Mobility’.

Media will have the opportunity to photograph the speakers and attendees as they gather and line up to find their legislators and interview speakers to discuss the need for policies that impact low-income Hoosier families.
